This May Have Been Done for Protection. Capt. Munger Receives Orders from Washington-A Steamer Due on Thursday-Cautious Movements of Lieut, Jacobs.

By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7 .- (Special.) This afternon the startling rumor was bruited abroad in explanation of Capt. Munger's refusal to permit comnunication with the Corwin. It is said he has as a guest on board the cutter no less a personage than Minister Willis who has returned from the islands, not through choice, but recessarily.

It is a growing belief here that sub equent to the departure of the steamer Alameda which conveyed the news of Minister Willis's demand on the provisional government to Auckland, President Dole answered Minister Willis by sending him his passports and requesting that he leave the Hawaiian lominions. All known facts apparently bear out this report.

It has been ascertained that Capt. Munger has been ordered by the Washington authorities to maintain his pres ent anchorage off Point San Quentin till next Thursday; to grant no shore leave to any of his officers or men, and, n a word, to permit of no communication whatever with land. The bearing of this lies in that fact that before next Thursday when the City of Pekin is due the people of the United States will know nothing of events on the islands, and this delay will give the administration breathing time to formulate a policy to meet the emergencies of the

The efforts to maintain the secrecy of the situation have gone to extraordinary length. The only person who has anded from the Corwin since her arrival on Friday was the officer who was put ashore with dispatches at Fort Point as the cutter steamed in. This officer, it has since been ascertained, was Lieut. Jacobs. He proceeded from the military reservation to the residence of Capt. Munger in this city, where he pressed a member of the Mun-ger family into service and had him file the dispatches to Washington with the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The lieutenant's motive in following this course was to avoid any possibility of being questioned either at the tele-graph office or on the streets. Having dispatched the messages he had himself driven to the ferry whence he took a poat to Sausailtt and, two hours later, after disembarking, joined the cutter off Point San Quentin.

reasonable hypothesis on which to explain all this maneuvering is that the Corwin is burdened with a sensation which threatens to disrupt that trim craft if it is kept bottled up onger. Before Mr. Thurston sailed for Honolulu he stated to several persons here that if Minister Willis were to take the course which he actually has taken he would recommend to President Dole to give the Minister his passports. As Mr. Thurston is at present advising President Dole, it is more than likely that such has been the course pursued, and this bears out the rumor that Minister Willis is now aboard the Corwin.

NOT CREDITED. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) The rumor tele-Associated Press.) The rumor tele-graphed from Washington to the ef-fect that Minister Willis had been given his passport by the provisional govern-ment, and that he had arrived at this port on the Corwin, is current Though considered quite probable that the Minister has been tendered his passport, it is not believed that he is on board the Corwin now, or that he was a passenger on her. The unprece-dented action of the Corwin's officers however, might indicate the truth of the story, for it is certain that they are concealing some important fact the public, and it may be that the Minto Hawaii is hidden in the cut-It is almost a foregone conclusion however, that Minister Willis would nowever, that Minister winds would not sail from Honolulu and leave Mrs. Willis behind. That she has not landed here is almost beyond doubt, nor is it believed that any woman is on board the Corwin else a glimpse of her would have been had by the many reporters who have closely watched the cutter since her appearance in the harbor. The story from Washington finds few believers here. ROASTING THE ADMINISTRATION.

San Francisco Journals Annoyed at the Attitude of Capt Munger.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) The attitude of Capt. Munger of the revenue Corwin toward the representatives of the press and public in general is without precedent in this port. From the moment that the Corwin arrived the men on board have been as inaccessible as if they were in midocean save for a brief interview that a reporter had with Capt. Munger yesterday evening when Capt. Munger yesterday evening when the captain went ashore at San Quen-tin in his gig to mail a packet of letters.

The captain, saw fit to go ashore with his letters himself rather than to trust a messenger, who might let some iota of news drop by accident or otherwise, under reportorial pressure. It was when on shore tails time for a very few min-utes that the Corwin's captain talked with a reporter and verified the cor-rectness of the Auckland cablegram

A conference was held this afternoon at which a number of prominent Republicans were present to decide on a course of proceedings relative to the Hawaiian question, due and long speeches, the committeemen are expecting to get their associates together and accomplish considerable work to the latest advices from Honolulu. It is understood some very radical views were given expression to, and

It is probable that the important bill repealing the 10-per cent. Tax on State bank issues will be reported to the Committee on Banking and Currency at an early day, perhaps during the coming week. There is a wide difference of opinion between Democrats as to the principles of such a measure the principles of such a measu and as these differences cannot well be reconciled it is the general desire in committee to report a bill simply repealing the tax and then let the House decide all differences. The principal item of the Senate programme for the week has been agreed upon. It is the consideration of the Federal Election Bill, which is taken up after the conclusion of the morning business, on Tuesday. Hawall may again demand the attention of the Sepate, to the exclusion of all other subjects, for a portion of the week. If the government should fail absolutely nothing to be given out on the Hawaiian question and would not be until the arrival of mail advices. This would seem to controvert the theory that the President's intent is to send a special message to Congress tomorrow on the Hawaiian question, including the correspondence received from the Corwin.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Many Congressmen expect that the President will send another Hawaiian message to Congress tomorrow. In such case the information so caserly awaite; would be a few hours ahead of the arrival of the steamer which left Honolulu for Vancouver on January 1, and the City of Peking, which sailed for San Francisco on January 2, both due this week. It is believed that Secretary Gresham spent considerable time with the President today in discussing the Hawaiian situation. GALVESTON, Jan. 7.—The News' San Antonio special says Dr. (Cavendish, the noted English to and scientist, died yesterday, a

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Matters to Come Up at Today's Session— Temple Street Cut.

The matter of the proposed regrading of Temple street is to come up again before the City Council today, and is likely to bring out a full representation of both the promoters of and those op-posed to the improvement. It will be remembered that at the meeting of the Council two weeks ago a motion made by Mr. Gaffey, to instruct the City Attorney to present an ordinance abandoning all proceedings for the work, was, after debate, referred to the Board of Public Works. At last week's ses-Rnodes and Innes) of the board reported recommending that the commissioners appointed for the widening be requested to give an estimate of the proportionate assessments they would impose upon the various pieces of property in the district. At the same meeting Mr. Strohm, of the board, presented a minority report, stating that he believed it would be only a waste of time to ask the commissioners to give an estimate of the assessments. He recommended that the Council decide whether to abandon proceedings or to go ahead with the work and thus end the matter.

In connection with this it will be remembered that a lively tilt occurred between Messrs. Innes and Gaffey on this proposition some weeks ago. The Two Men Had Quarreled Over an Arrest.

By Telegraph to The Times PRESCOTT (Ariz.,) Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) Miles Archibald, Chief of Police, was shot and probably Chief of Police, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night by Louis C. Miller, the constable. The two had quarreled about the arrest of a man by Miller, who was in the custody of Archibald, but was in the hospital.

During the quarrel Miller called Archibald a liar, and the latter advanced toward him in a threatening manner as if intending to strike him, when Miller drew his gun and fired three shots. Two took effect, one en-tering his left shoulder from behind, passing entirely through him, coming out in front, passing through the upper part of the lung. The other shot took effect in the back, also under the right shoulder, and the physicians have been unable to locate the ball.

Miller claims he acted in self-defense;

Some Seedling and Fancy Variety Oranges Reported Frozen. RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 7.—(Special.)

At Riverside the thermometer indi-cated a lower temperature Sunday morning than on Saturday. The lowest reported temperature was 18 deg. Another thermometer registered 20 deg. Exposed thermometers in orange-groves showed a temperature of 23, 24 and up to 32 deg. Some seedling and fancy varieties were badly frozen. The loss is variously estimated at from 2 to 10 per cent. of the crop.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 7-(Special) The cold weather of the past four days has kept everyone in this region on the anxious-seat and in a state of fear that has been most depressing For several mornings there has been frost and ice, and the orange crop has been in a most precarious condition The lowest temperatures reported thus far were such as to indicate the freezing of fruit long-exposed to such grea-cold. Fortunately this low temperature did not last long, being confined to short time between 6 and 7 o'clock the morning.
Unfortunately the temperatures can not be reported with any great degree of accuracy as the observations were taken with ordinary untested thermom eters which are liable to vary several degrees above or below the real tem-perature, and they were taken by people unaccustomed to reading thern ters accurately and also with the thermometers placed in varying states of osure. The lowest Saturday Sunday morning were nearly the same, and were as follows: For Sar Bernardino, 23 deg., Fhr.; with severa reports of 25 and 27 degs.; Highland, 23 deg.; Redlands, 24 deg., with a num-ber of reports of 20 deg.; Riverside, 24 with several reports of 25 and 28; Colton Terrace, 26 deg.; low ands south of Colton, 23 deg.

Harry Pool, a young man well known out town, and of a well-to-do family, was shot and almost instantly killed by Mrs. Shattuck, the aged mother of Estrella Shattuck, a young and pretty chorus girl at the Tivoli Operahouse, who severed her connec-tion with the Tivoli company last night, and was to have left the city tomorrow and was to have left the city tomorrow with Henderson's "Sinbad" company. Young Pool was summoned to Miss Shattuck's home on Stevenson street this morning, where the girl's mother met him and demanded that he marry Miss Shattuck at once. Pool refused, and Mrs. Shattuck put the pistol to his temple and shot him dead. The woman was arrested for murder, and is now a raving maniac at the City Prison. The girl is also in hysterics and unable to talk.

by virtue of which a call has been issued for a convention of delegates from the various district agricultural associations, for the purpose of organizing a trotting and pacing association for the terrfory west of the Rocky Mountains, with headquarters in that city. At present there are two such organizations in existence—the National Trotting Association, having headquarters at Hartford, Ct., and the American Trotting Association, with headquarters at Chicago. All the district associations of this Coast are members of these two organizations, but it is believed that the time is fully ripe for the formation of a third association that will have jurisdiction over the western portion of the country. It has also been found that, owing to the remoteness of the National and American accociations, serious inconvenience, to say nothing more, has resulted. With the formation of the Pacific association, the entire territory will be pretty well covered. The rulings, suspensions, etc., of one association will be recognized by the others. Ed Corrigan has more than a notion of sending two horses after the Liverpool Grand Nation in 1895. the Liverpool Grand Nation in 1895.
Andy Blakely, who is in San Francisco riding jumpers for the master of Hawthorne, knows the English jumping game well, and has ridden in the race, declares that, in his opinion, either Riley or Cicero can win the event. Cicero, unless he breaks down, is Blakely's choice, but he says after schooling Riley through the Hawthorne field, the old horse impressed him as the best green jumper he had ever ridden. The Grand National course at Aintree, near Liverpool, is of turf, four miles and 475 yards long, with about fifty jumps. To Blakely's mind, with a good horse beneath him, the course, stiff as it is, is less dangerous than an American one. There are, Blakely thinks, no horses outside the Corrigan pair in this country, able to go for the Grand National and have a good chance.

For two years Elliott, Class, Fulford and Brewer have done more match shooting than all the rest together. Looking over two years' records of these experts, it is seen that Elliott shot fifteen matches, Class seventeen, Fulford fifteen and Brewer eight. The record also shows that Brewer, who shot at 733 birds, leads the list with an averve of $4.270 Phan comes Class, who shot at 1600 birds, and averaged 92.973. Elliott shot at 1425 birds, getting an average of 92.603, while Fulford, who shot at 1403 birds, averaged 90.092. Here is a quartette who in two years shot at an aggregate of 5161 birds, and killed 4763, an average of 92.286 per cent, and we wonder if any four men in the trap-shooting ranks could excel the showing. It is extremely doubtful, and we also doubt the ability of any four men on either

I see the practical realization of electric synthesis, whereby wholesome food products will be directly formed under the potency of electric affinities. I see, too, a marked advance in electro-therapeutics, whereby human life will be prolonged and its sufferings alleviated. Diagnosis and prognosis will be profoundly aided by exact electrical measurements of the various organs of the human body as regards their electromotive force and resistance. The electrotherapeutist of the future will employ electric charges and curents for restoring the normal charges and currents of the body, as well as for the stimulation of nervous or muscular tissues.

This dream of man's future is full of brightness. Labor, when faithfully applied and intelligently directed, will reap its share of the benefit, and the twentieth century will give to the reliable and well-disposed workingman, as the machinery of labor is improved, larger leisure, more comfort at less cost and a recognized share in the task of shaping the future destinies of the race. All things seem to point to-

THE PROPOSED INCOME TAX.

Congress will be called upon to vote upon an income tax of 2 per cent. on individual incomes of $400,000 or more and on net incomes of corporations There certainly cannot be much object tion to the imposition of such a moder-taken in this manner would belong to the surplus of those from whom the tax is collected. It can scarcely be claimed that any man requires more than $30,000 a month to support himself and a family, however expensive they may be, in first-class style. So far the arrangement is all right, but the chief objection to an income tax lies, as The Times has frequently stated, in its inquisitorial character, which makes it brying into their private affairs. Such fact which has been frequently com-mented upon, that the more money case of people who have a moderate in comparatively little trouble in ascer-taining the amount of these incomes but where a man is in receipt of ove

$400,000 a year it would generally be a difficult thing to trace the sources from which he derives that income, unless he is willing to give all the facts voluntarily. In the case of some very wealthy people they do not always know themselves just what their in know themselves just what their in-come may be. Now the tax on an in-come of $1,000,000 at 2 per cent, would be $20,000, which would be a sufficient amount to offer great temptation to officials who are open to bribery, in cases where a capitalist is not above taking such means to escape paying his just dues. As to corporations, while it might not be quite so easy for them to conceal their income as for in

"ON THE EDGE OF THE FUTURE." Scientific men, students of history men of intelligent observation and of progressive thought are being more more deeply impressed with the belief that with the coming of the twentieth century there will be great and radical changes affecting human affairs, in which civilization will con-front new conditions and be placed in the midst of different social and industrial environments which will tend to more rapid advancement and the general uplifting of the race. The problems of modern civilization are being care fully and intelligently studied. Science is making marvelous strides in the field which she occupies; human inven-tion is active and is continually finding the means to lessen the tax upon hu man effort, lightening and lessening the ours of labor and multiplying its sources; tremendous changes are tak-ing place affecting the domestic and nomical conditions of all enlightened ences of men have broadened won so widely separated, reached only nations, and life thereby has come to mean more and to be better worth living than a half a century ago. The exwithin that period. The world which was then so vast, its countries eeks and months of tiresome journeying, science and human invention has brought to our very doors and placed us in daily communication with all lands. Swifter than a bird flies does our speech traverse seas and continents, and there is no speech or language where the voice of enlightenment is not heard. In 1850 it took ten days to cross the Atlantic and six months to traverse the wild wilderness of distance between California and the Atlantic borders. Now the swift steamships of today the great ocean greyhounds which seen led with life and the strength o giant will-forces, employ but little more than five days across this well-mappe highway. The ox-team and "the ship of the desert" are things of the past, and are daily receding far-ther and farther into its vanishing distance. Think of the time saved by these improvements, of the leisure that is left for other things, and of the conn of individuals and of society fancy as compared with what it is to day. How slow and barren and une-ventful seem the lives of the early settlers of this country as compared with the vigorous life of the present with all the helps which it presents in the industrial and other fields of human action. Without doubt the men of today live more in their brief span of eaning and of experience than were the long and placid lives of the world's old patriarchs. A thousand years of pastoral life then did not embody as nuch of human activity and knowledge as does fifty years in this progressive latter half of the nine teenth century.

gested by a valuable and timely symed in this paper on th under the head of a tax would also "On the Edge of the Future," to which much perjury, for it is an unfortunate many profound thinkers and distinguished writers contributed.

Philanthropists and men inspired a man has the more disposition with the love of universal progress are treaming grand dreams, some of the generally shows to hold on to the which are to be realized in the wherever possible to avoid paying course of the coming century. There are those who anticipate that through the mighty forces of electricity the tyranny of trusts will be broken. As said Robert H. Thurston, one of the contributors referred to:

tributors referred to:

"The electric current, as the flexible and far-reaching arm of the steam-glant, now applies the power of our coalbeds to do work miles from its point of liberation from its ages of rest. With continued application of the genius of the inventor and of the engineer it may yet transmit energy, dormant since the carboniferous era, from the coal-beds of Pennsylvania or of Illinois, in form of light, of heat, of mechanical power, to every hamlet, to do the work of factory, mill, of house-hold, even, and restore independence to the workingman by giving him the forces needed for his work in his own home. When domesticated thus the When domesticated home. When domesticated thus tyranny of corporations and trusts be broken, as far as it enslaves worker; and such combinations be then only beneficial through duction of costs of production in uction of costs of production in lim-ted fields. Inventions of new forms f mechanism in every department of dustry will unquestionably continue o make the labor of the individual aster, life more comfortable, hours of bor shorter, necessities easily obtain-d; comforts and luxuries now only mown to the rich, the usual and cer-ain privilege of all."

have but to consider the vast caps forward that civilization has en in all the departments of indus-l mechanism and human invention; laws and forces in nature that have been made the servants of the human will; the advancement in all departi; the advancement in all depart-nts of knowledge; the larger opporfunities for culture open to all classes; swifter means of locomotion, and introduction of electricity for moand illuminating purposes to ure, in some degree, the changes sed. And, with what has already mplished we may anticipate far more rapid advancement through the years of the coming century. As regards the future of electricity as an conomical agent, it may be no idle ision of its future presented by Prof. dwin of Houston when he says:

the nearer foreground I see a cal method for the production of felty directly from the burning of This achieved, there necessarily is the universal adoption of the is motor as prime mover: the relby all to be a manifest injustice to arbitrarily reduce that income to $75 a bitrarily reduce that income to $75 a ably be blood to the bridles of a jackmonth. In the case of a family of considerable size such a reduction would be the difference between a comfortwhich has probable not occurred to kindergarten statesmen who look below the surface, or to never those demagogues who see a bogie-man in every great accumulation of wealth, however legitimate the enterprise may be in which that wealth is both to those who are called upon to pay it and to the officials whose duty it is to collect it. We believe that if a vote could be taken on a proposition to establish an income tax it would be de-feated by an immense majority. The Democratic party will certainly not in-crease its popularity by adopting such measure.

There is a means of getting at the overgrown wealth of our millionaires which is not open to the same objec-tions as the income tax. We refer to taxation of legacies on a sliding scale, a proposition which has been advocated during the past few years by and has been adopted to a limited extent in a few of the States. We are aware that, sometimes, as in the case of Jay Gould, the law has been defeated by the distribution of the property just previous to death. It should, however, certainly be possible to devise means of reaching that class of people who are anxious to take their money with them, or at least to leave it all in their families when they die. Such a tax on large legacies imposes no injustice either on the living or the dead, and is not open to the same charge of being an interference with the private affairs of a citizen, like the income tax. When a wealthy man dies it is quite ommon thing to publish an inventory of his estate. Such a tax commencing, say on estates of $500,000 and increasing gradually in percentage to 10 or perhaps even 20 per cent, on very large estates would, as stated, work no injustice, and at the same time would yield an mmense revenue. It would be a just tax, because it would be levied on the surplus of those great aggregations of wealth which, when handed down from one generation to the other, sometimes threaten to become a menace to the perpetuation of this republic as it was ounded by our fathers.

If it is a fact that A. N. Towne i retire from the active management of the Southern Pacific Railway system. the profession of which he is a hon-orable member will lose one of its brightest stars. Mr. Towne has been with the Southern Pacific about twen-ty-five years and in all that time has demonstrated his overshadowing ability as a railway superintendent. Coming m the ranks, he won his spurs by the sheer force of magnificent capacity. Few men have shown a better knowledge of human nature than this railway general, and when it comes to stion of details he was always a naster of it. Had A. N. Towne not chosen to be a business man he might instrated the possession of the qualities that go to distinguish the great ones of the political arena. Broad-minded, renerous, and a most manly man, he whose lives have been bound up with the great California property until they are seemingly a part of it. Few men in this country have occupied a like posi-tion so long, and few indeed are there who have shown the capacity to do so with such conspicuous ability. The army of railway men who have served under Mr. Towne's management, many of them for more than two decades, appreciate his genius and character and will see him relieved from active duty with genuine regret. Well may they! Indications accumulate that the Presdent has put his large bunion-decorated foot in it regarding the Sandwich la-land question. If "his minister." Willis, has declared war against the provisional government in those islands and there is one drop of blood spilled there will be impeachment proceedings or we mistake the temper of Congress and the American people. The furtive movements of the Corwin since her return to these shores give evidence that there is more in the Hawaiian winds than the coun try knows of as yet. When the disclosures are made it is entirely probable that shortly thereafter something may be heard to drop. Certainly the has been one of rank and aggravating usurpation, and the limit of his arro gance and high-and-mighty "me" business has been reached. He should be sat upon, and that very hard.

Gov. Waite of Colorado, who has been filling the public eye so full of late that there has been scarcely a chance to copies daily. watch the antics of Lewelling, Pe noyer or Altgeld, now proposes to do a little impeaching himself, or have the Legislature do it, and, with that end in view, will prefer charges against the Centennial State's Attorney-General. The warmth of language tha has been indulged in among the office holders of Colorado has done much to mitigate the rigors of a hard winter.

San Francisco is rapidly becoming a formidable rival of Honolulu, even in the latter's palmiest days of rumormanufacturing. The board of managers held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Everything in the home was found in a hopeful condition, the general health good, the supplies fair, the current expenses paid up to date, except the matron's salary, which is still somewhat behind.

In looking over the accounts it was found that several persons who made monthly subscriptions at Mrs. Bullock's lecture, one year ago, are partially or wholly back on their dues. Some have changed their places of residence and the managers are unable to find them. All such persons are requested to attend to the matter at once, and send the money to the treasurer, Mrs. S. Men's Meeting at Y. M. C. A. Hall-Gospel Meeting of the Y. W. C. A.-The Gospel Union-Interesting Exercises.

At the Church of the Unity yester day morning the pastor, Rev. J. S. Thomson, preached a sermon on "Christ as a Learner," from the words "My Father hath taught Me," John

There are five departments in a full education: School instruction, includ-ing all the knowledge we receive from others; instruction in history, national others; instruction in history, national biographical and current events; a study of nature; a study of human nature; and a training in religion. Chris was educated in all these departments; Christ's mother taught Him in her home; as a Jewish boy He went to school in the synagogue; John the school in the synagogue; John the Baptist was His teacher. He learned lessons from the doctors in the temple, and He surprised them with His intell

The aprocryphal gospels speak of His relations with His teachers. The gospels show He had studied history, and they prove how much He loved nature and used her phenomena as illustrations of His doctrines. Again and again His knowledge of human nature is men-tioned by His four biographers. In our text Christ says: "My Father hath taught Me," God, the all-knowing. Who Have Won Prizes for Good never learns, but Christ did learn, ac cording to His own plain declaration, no matter what the theologians may say to the contrary. He hungered for knowledge, as His presence among the doctors in the temple plainly shows. He prayed for knowledge and worked

He prayed for knowledge and worked for knowledge till he was thirty years old, and then at His baptism by John in the Jordan God declared His approval of His education, His fitness for His mission, His consecration to His work. Others may say that, by shutting their eyes, or by going into hysterics, or by some kind of legerdemain, they can get knowledge without work, but Christ labored for His knowledge. Does God inspire mental or physical laziness? Christ had the "spirit without measure because He qualified Himself to receive it. Education enables man to keep the commandment "Subdue the earth," but ignorance is the cause of all our miseries. Every victory won over nature, over ourselves, over social, financial or political difficulties is won by knowledge in one or all of the five departments of education mentioned. Why does God love sinners? Why did Christ come to save them? What is the soul of this love for man? God knows man as He loves him. Christ knew human nature most strongly because He knew human nature. Knowledge destroys hatred, bigotry, spite. Crhist was the model learner, and the perfect education was only found in Him. He taught us that difficulties, sorrows, crosses are tasks set to us in this earth-school. So our for knowledge till he was thirty years difficulties, sorrows, crosses are tasks set to us in this earth-school. EAST SIDE BAPTIST CHURCH. Sunday will long be remembered as a red-letter day in the history of the East Los Angeles Baptist Church.
After the morning sermon preached by ordinance of baptism was administered and then the hand of fellowship extended to twenty-one new members.

At the Sunday-school S. C. Annable been greatly increased under the management of Mrs. Gregory, having increased almost one hundred in the

It makes no difference, said the speaker, where we attend church or to what denomination we belong, if we fear God and keep His commandments we are acceptable to Him.

I thank God that the different churches are devoting themselves to devising ways and means for the salvation of souls instead of arguments on the unessential doctrines upon which they differ.

the unessential doctrines upon which they differ.

God is no respecter of appearances, but looks to the inner nature to the character of a man.

This was a new doctrine to Peter, who had been raised up to believe that there could be no salvation but to the Jew, or through them.

There are but few people in these times but what attend some church. Many of them do this because it is respectable to do so. Society demands that they shall go to church at least once on Sunday. They attend to the outward forms of religion, but God looks at and measures them by their heart and charactef.

Conscientious people are not always right. Paul was conscientious in his persecutions of the Christians. The conscientius man should be a seeker after truth and open to conviction.

Any one may come to God and take of the salvation provided for him whenever he wills to do so, and I thank God that His love and mercy will reach down to the lowest depths, and so lung as man is willing so turn to God He will accept and pardon.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH.
Following the suggestion of the Evangelical Alliance the pastor of the English Lutheran Church, Rev. M. H.
Stine, preached on "Pentecostal Power," basing his remarks on Acts 1, 8.
He said: "We are entering on the week of prayer, during which more than at any other time in the year the churches turn to God in prayer. There are many powers in the world but there is only one in the church necessary to its success. That power calls all other powers to its aid. It is the power mentioned in the text. The Holy Spirit is the manifestation of God in the conversion of souls and the consequent maintenance of His spiritual kingdom in the earth. All of God's spirtiual presence with individuals and His church is ascribed by the prophets and the apostles to the Holy Spirit.
Without entering into a discussion of the mystery, let me say we know that in our everyday life the will of a purely spiritual force exercises power over spiritual force exercises power over matter. The will is anterior to spiritual sequence. How much more easier for the infinite will to exercise power over sequence. How much more easier for the infinite will to exercise power over our spirits.

"We see the result of the power illustrated in the apostles. Nothing could have seemed more hopeless than their cause prior to the day of Pentecost. The gift of the Holy Spirit brought with it all other gifts. The Holy Spirit is the spirit of the reformation of the sixteenth century. It is the spirit of pletism, of revived religion in individuals and churches all through the ages. The power is necessary to the reading and proper understanding of God's word. The Bible was not only written by inspiration, but it must also be read by it. When the Holy Sprit comes into a man's heart it brings light; consecration, power. This power cannot be bought nor is it the gift of reason. It is the free gift of God to everyone who asks it. We must simply feel our need of it, and ask of Him. It is the only gift the church needs. Her machinery is perfect, her organization almost faultiess but she needs more of the spirit to give her increased power. For this we pray today."

Rev. A. C. Smither, of the Temple-street Christian Church, preached yes-terday morning on "Man as Created," basing his sermon on man's creation, as terday morning on "Man as Created," basing his sermon on man's creation, as given in Genesis.

This account, said he; is the most satisfactory one ever given of the race's origin. Like the world of which he is a part, man had his origin in the creative energy of Almighty God. He is not the son of chance or offspring of fate. He was the last of creation, and an additional element; the spiritual nature was conferred upon him above the material things of creation. In addition to himself, a companion for him was made, and then the marriage relationship was formed, the home was founded and the race begun.

In this couple we find the origin of the race as claimed by Adam that Eve was the mother of all living. This doctrine is corroborated by the New Testament, teaching, by ethnologists, by philologists and physiologists. The fact is, history is more patient than the solidarity of the race.

Man's nature is set forth in that he was made, in the likeness and image of God. This evidently does not refer to man's physical system; for God is a spirit. It must, then, refer to his intellectual and spiritual nature. In these respects man is differentialed from the brute creation and allied to God. In his power of choice, in his intellectuality, in his moral characteristics, in his conscience and immorality, man, though fallen, resembles Him by whom he was created.

Y. M. C. A. HALL.

Rev. Henry W. Crabbe, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Congregation, which worships in the Young Men's Christian Association building, preached a sermon on "Christian Culture," the text being found in II Peter, iii, 18, "But grow in grace."

The word culture, said the speaker, is not found in the Bible, and yet it is implied in the text by the word "grow."

The tendency of the age is to emphasize both physical and mental culture, but when we say that both these fall far short of a perfectly-developed manhood we are not to be understood as speaking lightly of the value or understood as speaking lightly or understood as sp Y. M. C. A. HALL terday the pastor, Rev. A. C. Bane, occupied the pulpit and delivered an impressive discourse from a part of the thirty-fourth verse of the twenty-second chapter of I Kings, "And a certain man drew a bow at a venture and smote the King of Israel between the joints of the harness."

He said King Ahab, conscious of his disobedience to God's will in waging this battle, disguised himself as a common soldier and clad in his suit of armor felt little fear of the enemies darts of God's avenging hand, but a certain man drew a bow at a venture and smote him fatally between the joints of his armor. We may draw some practical lessons from this incident. God's plans are hidden from us, and He works not within prescribed limits in the accomplishment of His purposes. God directed that arrow, and it went with unerring alm to the weak place in the King's armor. It was no accident. There are no accidents in God's work, nor in that we may do for Him. His servants are providentially directed. We cannot see the end from the beginning, nor see or predict the results of our labors in His cause, but He knows it all, and we are not to be understood as speaking lightly of the value or understaing the importance of either physical or mental training. We admire the man of strong physique, and believe a healthy body to be helpful to a vig-rous mind, but a man may have the strength of a Hercules, he may be an athlete and yet be but little higher than the brute. We say of such a one "he is physically developed but it the brute. We say of such a man distrength and the brute. We say of such a common of trong physique, and believe a healthy body to be helpful to a vig-rous mind, but a man may have the strength of a Hercules, he admire the man of strong physique, and believe a healthy body to be helpful to a vig-rous mind, but a man may have the strength of a Hercules, he admire the man of strong physique, It strives to develop all the faculties, to open and refine all the senses through which knowledge comes until they can truthfully report to the soul the existence of one who was more than man. It educates all our capacities of action and harmonizes our whole being until it answers every touch of inspiration and discerns every duty. It sends us to the source of all wisdom—to Him who is wisdom. It brings us face to face with God in nature. It causes us to look upon our own wonderfully constructed bodies, and behold in them the master-strokes of a divine mechanism. It looks back of all natural laws, and beholds a great universal first cause. The man who has not soul culture has not in him the best means of elevation. Not having found that which joins the infinite with the finite, he gets no higher than himself and grows earthward instead of heavenward.

It is only the gospel of the Son of God that gives us a ladder that reaches from earth to heaven. On it God descends to men and men ascend to Him. It is in this blessed gospel that we find the true elements of strength and culture of soul.

SIMPSON CHURCH.

Notwithstanding the cold snap, an appreciative audience greeted Dr. C. C. McLean, at Simpson Tabernacle yesterday morning. After the usual opening services, he chose for his text I John, the third and a part of the sixteenth verse: "Hereby perceive we the love of God, because He laid down his life for us."

The subject of the speaker's remarks was based on the atonement of the Lord Jesus Christ, saying there is too little though given to the fact of what God has done for us. The creation of man manifested His divine power; the redemption of man showed God's great love for the race.

The speaker forcibly illustrated, by numerous examples, that the whole problem of human life is but a constant recurrence of examples of the innocent suffering for the guilty.

During the offertory Miss Lulu Pieper rendered, in a sweet and pleasing manner. "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

At the glose of the service Dr. McLean announced that on next Sabbath he would begin a series of sermons on the spiritual life, to be followed by a series of sermons in the evenings on "Life in the Home."

The cong service was well attended, considering the cold. The programme was finely rendered.

Dr. McLean made a very forcible address on "The Life of John the Baptist." During the offertory Miss Pieper sang "Not a Sparrow Falleth."

MEN'S MEETING.

Rev. George W. White, presiding elder of the Methodist churches in the Los Angeles district, spoke before a male audience at the Young Men's Christian Asociation on the "Value of Christian Asociation on the "Value of Christian ity." From a business point of view, as a young man starts out with life before him, with the possible achievements, no better capital could he have than a character founded on the religion of Jesus Christ. From many other standpoints, with illustrations to elucidate and make more prominent the ideas advanced, the value of a Christian character was clearly portrayed. Breathless interest characterized the meeting as the speaker passed from point to point.

The gospel meeting was held yesterday at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church on Broadway. There was an opening song service, accompanied by Miss Rider and the Y.W.C.A. Orchestra, and a solo sung by Rev. W. W. Tinker. "Come unto Me."

Mr. Tinker then addressed the meeting, and commended the new plans for work which seem to be obtaining in these days, while active work was being participated in by more than the pastors of the churches. Where all were working together harmoniously to supplement the efforts of the pastors for the salvation of souls. He emphasized the fact, too, that, behind all this organization there must ever be individual work—not fully in a general way, but in special places. There is some work that cannot be done by the loving touch of an individual hand. He said the need for this association work had existed longer than we thought for, as, in the changed relations of young women to business there was a greater need than ever for the softening and gentler influences.

MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH.

Yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. Arthur Rider, preached a timely discourse upon the text, "How much owest thou unto my lord?" at the Memorial Baptist Church, calling attention to the practice, at the beginning of the year, of taking an inventory of stock, and seeking to settle one's indebtedness. He urged the consideration of the soul's indebtedness to God, the soul's inability to pay and the provision for payment made by Christ.

Rev. W. W. Tinker sang effectives at the close of the sermon, "Nothing to Pay." The hand of fellowship was extended to five new members at the after service.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Tinker spoke very impressively upon "The Necessity of the New Birth." urging that this necessity was not the result of any divine command, but the necessity which inheres in the very nature of a soul rendered dead unto God through sin. It is now dead, and to ever live unto Him, it must be born from above. He also sang tenderly, "Ye Must Be Born Again."

Board of Education.

The Board of Education will meet this evening. As far as has been announced there is nothing of special importance to be acted on.

There has been a good deal of criticism against the action of the board at its last meeting in discharging the assistant drawing-teacher after she had had at least tacit assurance that she would be employed all the year.

There has also been much adverse comment on the action of the board in putting one of the teachers in the Castelar-street school on the substitute list—that is placing her where she will be employed only when there chances to be a vacancy—and thus compelling Mrs. Dubols, the principal, to teach classes during one-half of the school day.

The work of the principal of that school is stated to be quite different from that in the other schools. The pupils include a number of nationalities, and much attention on the part of the principal is required in order to make matters move smoothly.

A Refractory Bootblack.

M. Pentizo, a bootblack, was arrested yesterday afternoon for disturbing the peace on Spring street. Parties who had hired Pentizo decided to dispense with his services, and employed a colored boy to take his place. Pentizo did not like this, and refused to give up the keys to the stand, when the 'fracas' took place. The bootblack put up $10 ball, and was allowed to go, pending his appearance in court today. M. Watchmaking and Repairing as Reduced to a Science.

Many Watches Ruined by Careleseness and Ipcompetent Handling by So-called Watchmakers-Why Great Care Should Be Used in Seeking Repairs.

There was a time when watches were great big affairs, which were appropriately called turnips. Then almost any one with a little experience, could be a watch-repairer, for the works of timepieces had not then become as minute and delicate as they now are. But, nowa-days, the case is very different. Watches, and especially the finer grades, probably the most intricate mechanism that they cannot be handled without the aid of a magnifying glass. And the profession of watch-repairing has kept pace with the strides in the advancement of methods of manufacture. Now-a-days it has become an exact science, which could with a great deal of justice be dignified with the title of a fine art. The number to the dangers of incompetent handling of watches is to point out the fact that our facilities in this direction are unex-celled. We have in our employ two of this country. Be Charged With a Worse Crime.

C. L. Lunnesdale, a middle-aged and respectable appearing man, is for attempting to jump a bill. The complainant in the case is the landlady of a First-street lodging-house. Lunnes-dale stopped at her place for some time, but did not pay promptly claim-dale siopped at her place for some time, but did not pay promptly claiming to be in very close circumstances. Yesterday he started to leave, when Detective Insley was called to arrest him. Insley found Lunnesdale at the Arcade Depot, and took him to the station. A search of the man's pockets revealed some $45 in coin, showing that he really did have enough money to pay up, if he so desired, as the bill was only for about $14.

Lunnesdale was very anxious to have his bail fixed, so when Justice Seaman came down town in the afternoon he was called in to settle the amount of bond. The justice put the sum at $1000, and, as the man was unable to raise this sum, he was locked up.

In all probability another and a more sarious charge will be placed against Lunnesdale today, for he is also suspected of having appropriated money not belonging to him in order to swell his purse. About the time when he complained most heavily the landlady missed $200, the disappearance of which she was unable to account for, and a few days afterward Lunnesdale was seen to have just such an amount in his possession. If he can be connected with the theft, it will probably go hard with him, notwithstanding the fact that his friends believe that he is innocent.

CHINO RANCH!

MR. RICHARD GIRD, Owner.

AT PRIVATE

In 10, 20, 40 and 80-acre farms to suit purchasers, on credit terms at low rate of interest.

The Property We Offer

Comprises the well-known Chino Ranch, in the center of which is the Town of Chino, exthe line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, about three miles south of Pomona and Ontario. Surrounding the property is the valley portion of the Chino Ranch, comprising 16,000 acree lying north and east of Chino Creek, subdivided into ten-acre tracts, which have a gradual decline toward the South and Southwest, giving ample natural drainage for successful cultivation.

gradual decline toward the South and Southwest, giving ample natural drainage for successful cultivation.

In 1891 the Heet Sugar Company was organized and the Refinery built and put in operation at Chino, in a central portion in reference to the property. The result obtained from the operation of the Factory tor the few years past shows a 'remarkable degree of adaptability of the soil to the successful cultivation of the Sugar Beet, both in amount of production and in percentage of saccharine matter, and also in the efficient capacity of the manufacturing plant. The factory handled during the present season of 1894, 1000 tons of beets per day, and have from 800 to 800 tons per day ceming in continuously for the entire campaign, covering a period of nearly four months. It is proposed now to increase the capacity of the Factory by the erection of an additional building and machinery to suit the requirements of increasing production. The returns for the present campaign have been a total yield of over 18,000,000 pounds of sugar, which have been shipped out as crude sugar tobe refined elsewhere.

Under a direct and specific contract between Mr. Gird and the Chino Valley Beet Sugar Company, a corporation which instituted and operates the neet Sugar industry, they agreed to purchase from Mr. Gird or his successors all the beets grown on the ranch for Company, a corporation which instituted and operates the neet Sugar industry, they agreed to purchase from Mr. Gird or his successors all the beets grown on the ranch for years to come, and at the present date, about November 1st, 1893, before the commencement of the next season, a fixed price is established that the factory will pay for the beets at maturity next season. This insures the planter in the market for his crop, and with the price that is fixed, before he takes any risk in the matter or makes the first move towards turning over the ground.

Possibly there is no other branch of industry where calculations for future results can be made so readily or so correctly calculated upon, and returns realized in so short a time as in the cultivation of the Sugar Beet under such auspices.

While speaking particularly in regard to the important industry of beet growing for the manufacture of sugar, estimates of general fruits should not be lost sight of, as a great portion of the land is especially adapted to Citrus Fruits and Deciduous Trees.

Orange groves planted on portions of the ranch are coming forward, and olives, figure apricots, prunes, pomegranates and berries, in fact California fruits of all kinds, seem indigenous to the soil. It is also demonstrated that corn, barley, we and indigenous to the soil. It is also demonstrated that corn, barley, we are dependent of the control of the ranch, is a fourishing california town, with telegraph, telephone and express offices, schools and churches. Means of communication and transportation are ample. The Southern Pacific Railroad runs its main line direct into Chino, and is four miles distant from Pomona and Ontario, on the main overland line, and in addition are ample. The Southern Pacific Railroad runs its main line direct into Chino, and is tour miles distant from Pomona and Ontario, on the main overland line, and in addition are proposed extension which is now assured from Pomona, through Chino to South Riverside and Elsinora. The following are a few of the advantageous features of the Caino Valley. First, the cultivation of the Sugar Beet, which insures a profit; fifteen tons is an average crop, but which during this present season of 1896 has averaged the grower from 85 to 80 per ton, which during this present season of 1896 has averaged the grower from 85 to 80 per acre and delivering at the factory.

Arrival of Attorneys and Officers in Private Cars.

Denied That the Southern California Will Be Affected, ects of Another Transcont senger Rate War-Southern Pacific Business at Port Los Angeles

Two private cars were attached to Two private cars were attached to the Santa Fe overland train which arrived last evening. One of the cars was that of T. R. Gabel, general superinfendent of the Atlantic and Paeific, and the other was occupied by Judge C. N. Sterry, general attorney for that road; W. W. Green, of the law firm of Alexander & Green, New York, and C. B. Smith, of the Topeka law firm of Rossington & Smith. The coming of the attorneys had been foretold by the coming of the dispatch from Prescott, printed in this paper yesterday morning, which announced that their business in the Arizona city was to secure in the Arizona city was to secure ness in the Arizona city was to secure the appointment of receivers for the Atlantic and Pacific. A Times reporter called upon the party last evening at the cars which were sidetracked at La Grande Station and found the attorneys in consultation with W. J. Hunsaker, counsel for the Southern California Railroad in this city. To the questions asked by the reporter Judge questions asked by the reporter Judge

"Our business here at this time is in connection with the Atlantic and Paconnection with the Atlantic and Pa-cific road only. Tomorrow we will go before Judge Ross, of the United States Court, and ask for the appointment of receivers for the Atlantic and Pacific. nilar action has already been taker receivers for the Atlantic and Pacific. Similar action has already been taken in New Mexico and Arizona. We will do nothing that will concern in any way the Southern California Company and there is no intention of asking for a receiver for that road. Mr. Green, who is with us, is the attorney representing the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, and Charles C. Smith of Topeka, is with us as a guest. When the Atlantic and Pacific receivership is settled we shall return home."

It will be gratifying to this section if the Southern California road does escape a receivership, though no material changes would necessarily follow such a step if it should become inevitable. From the latest expressions obtained from Santa Fe official circles, it is claimed that entire system, excepting the Southern California, the Gulf. Colorado and Santa Fe, and the Sonora roads will be embraced in the receivership, the last named being excluded by reason of its lying in a foreign country where the jurisdiction of receivers appointed by United States courts would be limited by difficulties.

NO TICKETS TO PUNCH.

The action of the Consolidated Elec-tic Railroad Company in refusing to renew the 700 annual passes which expired by limitation on December 31, has brought to light a bit of history about the now defunct Los Angeles and Pacific roat. At the time that ill-starred road was in operation between this city and Santa Monica, there were 500 annual passes extant, issued by the management. These passes, unlike a great proportion of those given out by the street railway company, were very much alive, that is, they were held by people who used them at every possible opportunity. It is told that so great had grown this class of travel that Conductor Jack Henry, who ran back and forth over the road, never thought of asking for tickets, but would always enter the coaches with this little speech, "Let me see your passes, please."

The road has been bankrupt for sevpired by limitation on December 31, has The road has been bankrupt for several years.

progress, and there was no effort made to do a shipping business.

No progress has been made by the general passenger agents, who, since the 3d inst., have had a meeting in Chicago to fix up transcontinental rates, and it looks as if the war on the Pacific Coast passenger rates will be renewed before long. The Canadian Pacific demands are claimed to be unreasonable and unjust, and the other roads say that it will be better for them to renew the fight with that road than secure peace at the price asked. A differential rate of $10 on first-class and of $5 on second-class tickets from $1. Paul to San Francisco is demanded by the Soo Pacific route. It also demands a differential rate of $5 on second-class tickets, and $3 on second-class tickets from $1. Paul to North Pacific Coast points. The Southern Pacific is willing to concede a $5 differential on first-class San Francisco business, but the Canadian Pacific must have all it asks for.

THE PARKINS SHOOTING. The Doctor Still Alive-Several Conflicting

Stories, Nothing was heard at the Sheriff's office yesterday concerning the condi-tion of Dr. Parkins, supposed to have been fatally wounded by young Knox, at Moneta, Friday, from which it is inferred that there has been no change at Moneta, Friday, from which it is inferred that there has been no change, and that he is still alive.

There is some dispute as to just how the shooting took place, and it is claimed that Knox's story, as published in The Times Sünday, contained some inaccuracies, or, rather, that the young man, in order to help his case, did not tell all the facts. Dr. Parkins and Knox were in Los Angeles together Friday, and went out on the same train that afternoon, going to Redondo. Knox afterward went to Parkins's place, when there was some trouble, and the young man left. He first borrowed a shotgun, and then went half a mile further to purchase armunition. The cartridges were not loaded to suit him, and he unloaded them, took out the birdshot, which he replaced with buckshot, and then returned to Parkins's place, where the shooting occurred. Parkins was in his room when he was shot, the bullets entering the left side and three of them penetrating the abdominal cavity, inflicting probably fatal injuries. Dr. N. H. Morrison, the Santa Fe surgeon, was called, and went down to Moneta, where he attended the injured man. When he returned to the city the patient was resting easily under the influence of oplates. The final outcome will not be known for a day or two.

Dr. Parkins is an old Californian, and formerly lived at Azusa. While well advanced in years, he is of powerful physique and very vigorous, and, if peritonitis does not set in, has a fighting chance for his life.

Value of Local Realty During the Past Decade.

Interesting Statistics Set Forth by Mr. Wood Personal Notes of Interest-Brevities.

J. W. Wood of this city, editor of Trade, that bright commercial paper of Los Angeles, has compiled some inter-esting statistics relative to the value of prosperity that has attended the old Indiana colony is referred to as "one of the wonders of California real estate." Ten years ago the site was one of rural beauty, with no promise of the brilliant future that has unfolded itself.

Reference is made to the fact that the first impetus given to the movement in realty in the present business cen-ter was at the sale of school land, in in rearty in the fitted in the rearty in the fitted in the rearty in 1885: "In 1883 an acre of land on the southwest corner of Colorado street and Fair Oaks avenue sold for $1000, and Fair Oaks avenue sold for $1000, the purchaser holding off a week to demand the commission discount. At the auction of the school land, in 1883 the highest price was the property at the southeast corner of Colorado street and Fair Oaks avenue, which sold at $147 per front foot, for Colorado frontage. The corner of Colorado and Raymond brought $60 and the lowest price realized was $58. The remarkable feature is pointed out that business property on Colorado street is held at about the same figures as it was during the height of the boom. It is held now at from $300 to $400 per front foot, as against $300 to $400 per front foot, as against $300 to $600 in 1887. Property on Raymond and Fair Caks avenues can be purchased at about one-half the price asked for it in boom days. Residence property on the most desirable streets brings almost as high figures as it did in 1887. The matter is very clearly set forth

Lake California WANT TO WIDEN FAIR OAKS. The subject of widening Fair Oaks avenue between Colorado and Kansas streets is still being agitated. In the widening process would have to come in on the west side of the thoroughfare, and although the territory in question is almost completely built up the structures, with the exception of the Mills Block, are of frame and could be set back the required distance at a comparatively small expense. This street is one of the most traveled in the city and on general principles its widening would constitute an important public improvement.

THE STAKES WERE DIVIDED.

Owing to the misunderstanding about the steeplechase course at the Tourment of Roses the riders took opposite directions in circling the track at the finish. Consequently, the judges were forced to decide that the race be run over again or that the claimants divide the stakes, which was done. The reporter has been informed that Mr. Allen's horse, "Tony," ridden by Mr. Edmonds, was guided over the course agreed upon although Mr. Senter's horse, "Diablo," made more jumps and covered a longer distance. These horses will meet again, when it is hoped that the riders will make a careful study of the course mapped out.

THE COLD SNAP STILL ON.

Sunday was another cold day following upon two of the coldest nights of the season. The sun shone brilliantly, however, the atmosphere was dry and well people and invalids felt better for the invigorating style of climate. The only discomfort experienced has been indoors in houses built years ago without any adequate provision being made to heat them. It is a fact worthy of note that in the new houses much more attention is being given to the heating facilities than formerly.

Meeting of the Claremont Orange-growers-Election of Officers.

The Claremont orange-growers held a meeting Saturday morning, and elected P. J. Dreher president and G. W. Ogle secretary and general mana-ger. The organization is the oldest in the valley and got good prices for its fruit last year. The association is already packing fruit in a part of the Santa Fe depot.

The San Antonio Fruit Ex-Saturday. The San Antonio Fruit Exchange at once took charge of the representatives, and took them over the valley, and showed them the splendid crop of oranges and the many beautiful groves, so that the representatives, when they reach the Eastern markets, can tell the merchants what the San Antonio Fruit Exchange has for sale.

A plan is on foot to make a magnificent display at the Midwinter Fair. The officers of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange have issued circulars, asking the directors of other Southern Califor-nia exchanges to select some choice oranges, and let each exchange have a lot of its fruit on exhibition. The idea The idea is to have the exhibits all in the same part of the building, and yet have each fruit exchange have its own fruit labeled so that every one who visits the fair could see a magnificent display of fruit, and at the same time know from just where it comes. The plan suggested by the San Antonio Fruit Exchange is to appoint a commentate that would select the San Antonio Fruit Exchange is to appoint a committee that would select the choicest fruit from each association and then the San Antonio Fruit Exchange would pay for the same and send it to the Midwinter Fär. The fruit would be replaced when dirty or unfit for use. In this way it is expected that the very best possible exhibit would be secured.

A Lively Session of the Board Anticipated-Effects of Evil Associations-Notes from Orange-Santa Ana Brevities.

The postponed meeting of the Santa Ana library trustees will be held this (Monday) evening in the office of the (Monday) evening in the office of the librarian. It is expected that the meeting will, in some respects, be sensational. As it will be a public session, no doubt many spectators will find their way in. D. M. The Universalist parish will hold its annual meeting this afternoon and tevening, an occasion that always combines much pleasure with business, to say nothing of a sumptuous supper that is served to all friends of the church.

The Pasadena Fruit-growers' Association, having effected permanent organization, may now be expected to get down to business. The coming crop of oranges ought reasonably to be handled in a way that will net a satisfactory profit to the growers. Herefore fore the profits seem to have gone to the commission man and the wholesale and retail purchasers.

A spirited horse, driven by Miss Brown of Orange Grove avenue, became frightened at the Salvation Army Sunday afternoon, and ran off, on North Fair Oaks avenue. THE WELL-DRESSED MAN.

What He Wears and How He Wears It.

The First Sign of a Man of Taste and Culture His Clothes, the Style, Fit and Cut-How Every One Can Easily Obtain the Reputation of Being Well-dressed

To stand well with our fellows is the aim of every one, and to do that we must be well dressed. It is all well enough to say that the clothes do make the man, but they go a long ways toward making the esteem in which he is held by his fellows. One of the first signs of a well-bred man is his taste in dressing and his care of his general appearance. A man who is naturally a gentleman will always be well dressed and neat, whether he has money or not. If he has but little money, he will be the best he can get. And he will hever wear a ready-made suit, for he knows that it soon gets out of shape and doses all pretentions to style. Instead, he will walt a very little longer, save, and he will walt a very little longer, save, and down the street, proud in the consciousness that he is a well-dressed man. And you can do the same. Just at present, ye'l can buy suits made to order cheaper than you will be able to again for a long time. You can come to us and we will sell you a fine svit for just what the labor and goods cost us. Why? Because we are moving to another sieve. We need more room, and must go elsewhere to get it. Naturally, we do not want to have to me ve any more goods, than is absolutely necessary, for moving is expensive. Chinese are Not to Be Fooled Again.

Orders from the Highbinders of No Effect-Many are Already Busy Securing Photographs-What Wong Chee Says.

It is not thought probable that the Chinese of Southern California will be backward about registering under the McCreary law, even in face of the threats which are reported as having been made by the leading highbinders of San Francisco, for their experience in obeying blindly the orders of the Six Companies has proven a very bitter and unpleasant one indeed, and they are not likely to heed further instructions from "headquarters," ever though they are sent out ordering them to refrain from complying with the provisions of the law. None have them to refrain from complying with the provisions of the law. None have registered here as yet, but the deputy collector's office has been visited by a stream of Mongolians each day since it was announced that names would be received, all eager to learn what they must do to get their signatures down right and avoid further trouble.

Wong Chee, the Chinatown leader, supposed to be the local representative of the Six Companies, when asked by a Times reporter if the feeling among his people was in favor of registering, said: "Oh, yes; all the boys will register except the merchants. There will be no more trouble here. They have not started in yet, but are getting ready now. They all would have registered before if it had not been for the order of the Six Companies."

Several photographers reported on Saturday that they had had a number of Chinese sitters, and this fact shows that the heathen are taking the first step necessary toward registration by obtaining photographs, which become a part of the record, to insure a perfect description.
